

Colleen Marble

Colleen Marble is a 2nd grade teacher at Urban Discovery Academy. Colleen earned a Bachelors of Science in Exercise Physiology from the University of Utah. She has been in the education field for nine years. During those nine years she has taught at a private school (Harborside School), a public school (Washington Elementary), and now a charter. These experiences have helped mold her current educational philosophy that learning is fun! She loves UDA because its project-based learning format aligns with her educational philosophy that children learn best by doing and its commitment to PE, the arts, and Spanish education. In 2012 Mrs. Marble was the recipient of UDA's Teacher of the Year Award.
