

Jeremy Long, Ph.D.

Jeremy and his high school sweetheart, Heidi, have two awesome girls at UDA: Chelsea (3rd Grade) and Savannah (1st Grade). UDA attracted them because of the emphasis on project-based learning, strengths in the arts and P.E., and the small class size. UDA parents have become some of their best friends. Jeremy is an Assistant Professor of Biology at SDSU. When he's not teaching on campus, you can find him studying snails, seaweeds, and crabs at the marine lab, local estuaries, or rocky shores. Jeremy brings science to broader audiences by blending science and hip hop music. He benefits from a wife, an elementary educator, who shares opinions on educational theory.
